Amitabh Thakur :-

With false rape and sexual assault charges increasing in number, we need equal protection of Men's Right as that of Women's Rights. Open options for S.D Vijayan's post

sidharth sarthi LAW CLERK-CUM-RESEARCH ASSISTANT:-

Court is keen about these complaints

Arrest in S. 498A , S 497 and S. 376 of IPC were already in question. Now court taken action against arrest in SC & ST Cases than BJP and many other political parties made this as issue of safety to SC & ST. Many of my friend declared this as #Return_of_MANUVAD. Misuse of law can only be understood by the victim of that misuse no-one can justify the same by sitting in AC Room.

Srinath Kashyap Contract Management Specialist at SAP Labs:-

Justice is same for everyone. No one should use word like 'counter'. Courts cannot get the nittygrirtys of the issues. If the same situation continues men and women forums starts fighting on roads. Media and police will be confused whom to support. Along with them..gays, lesbians, transgenders starts their fight for equal rights then..that would be the peak stages of Democracy.

Adv Sushil Raaja MA.MBA.LLM Addl Standing Central Govt. Counsel:-

Now time has come for review & restructuring of our constitution in the interest of Justice

sidharth sarthi LAW CLERK-CUM-RESEARCH ASSISTANT:-

R u thinking so? If one talk to amend any provision of IPC you will suggest to rewrite the Constitution. Were you seriously a law student?

subodh bansal False dowry charges are also very high.:-

Dowry death is increasing.

Stern Law can not solve the problem.

I plan ideas. I can not change the law.

One thing I can do is to start campaign.

I want to give sex policy through social media. I wrote content. I need good team to prepare videos. This will address all problems of sexuality.

2. For false cases issue. I can start campaign which will explain why a person should not Lodge false cases or false witness. I wrote content. I need good team to record videos and circulate on social media.

Mira Swaminathan Intern at European Centre for Press & Media Freedom (ECPMF) :-

I understand the impact a false rape/assault case can have, however the need for a "men's rights law" is appalling especially when there is a deep rooted structure of patriarchy that is existing in our system.

There's a difference between a 'reported rape case' and an 'unreported rape case'. In a study of say, 49% of rape cases in Delhi are false, one should understand that the statistics only highlights the numbers of the reported ones, completely ignoring the fact that many true incidents are unreported because of the social system that silences victims. Moreover, even in the reported ones, most of them are filed by families for revenge in case of eloping.

I understand there can be a misuse of the law, however, misuse of a law shouldn't be the only reason why a parallel law should be made. This is just a counter argument to the idea.

Palak Mathur Manager, Software Engineering at Capital One :-

Agree with you Mira Swaminathan. An introduction of a parallel law to counter the fake cases is not going to solve the issue. These laws are meant so that the victims find the judicial system accessible. Few false positives doesn't mean that you have to retaliate with a counter law. Anyway, how do you know the false positives are actually false positives and not false negatives? Based on evidence, right. If that is the case, then existing law sufficiently handles that. The counter-laws for a law will just lead to a cyclic disorder, which will not be easier to maintain.

Apurv Jain Junior Consultant- Energy Practice at ICF:-

I agree. Section 497 could be a good start too.

Its appalling why our so called "feminist" are shut on this. Lets talk about equality here also.

Mira Swaminathan Intern at European Centre for Press & Media Freedom (ECPMF) :-

Section 497 is a 'sexist' provision and not a 'feminist' provision. Both the sexes are affected by it.

"Consent and connivance of the husband" is taken into consideration implying that women are treated as property. And also, wife cannot file a case of Adultery against her husband, only the husband can, thus proving the law is sexist in nature. It should be decriminalized for the right reason.
